Parkway Study Alternatives to be Presented at Public Meeting June 28

A public meeting to present and discuss alternatives offered in the Baltimore-Washington Parkway Study will be held Monday, June 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bladensburg senior high school gymnasium. The Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) which is planning reconstruction of the entire Parkway is required to hold meetings affording the public an opportunity to discuss the preliminary alternatives with the Project Planning Team.

A draft report describing the alternatives is available at the library of the SHA office, 9300 Kenilworth Ave.

Interested persons are invited to the meeting to express their preferences. Written comments and/or requests to be included on the project distribution list may be submitted to Mr. Robert J. Hajzyk, Director, Office of Planning and Preliminary Engineering, State Highway Adm., 300 W. Preston St., Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Council's Position

by Bob McGee

The Greenbelt City Council, at its regular meeting on Monday, June 14, 1976, approved and discussed the consequences of the Advisory Planning Board's Report #175 on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. Both Council and the APB had reviewed part of an Environmental Impact Study report and recommendations contained therein for the further study of three alternative improvements to the B-W Parkway. Donald Volk, APB Chairman, made an impassioned plea that Council support option one — namely that no major changes be made to the Parkway except improvements for safety purposes — and urged that no truck traffic be permitted anywhere on the portion of the Parkway under consideration.

Council requested the City Manager to prepare a statement expressing the views of Council to be presented by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld at the hearing on Monday, June 28. The statement indicates Council's preference for Alternative 1, but recommends that if Alternative 2 is chosen there will be no connection to the outer beltway, that I-95 not be routed to the Parkway, that trucks be prohibited, and that the major improvements proposed to the interchange of Greenbelt Road and I-95 not be undertaken.

Bike Trails

Gabe Sucher, who was in attendance with his young brother, Anatole, urged that a recommendation be made for the addition of bicycle trails as part of the improvements being proposed. At first, Council thanked Sucher for his concerns and moved on with its business. Councilman Thomas White, however, felt that Sucher should know that his remarks were not being ignored, but that the recommendation was not quite appropriate for the particular report. However, the more Council discussed the matter, the more they began to question why they shouldn't recommend bicycle trails on any and all occasions since they supported the development of these throughout the Greenbelt area. Council finally voted to have the City Manager add this to the recommendations in the position letter he was putting together for Council.

Six Alternatives

by Gabe Sucher

The Maryland Department of Transportation is currently conducting a study on proposals to widen the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and/or allow trucks to use the route. The study is now in its second stage, which involves a preliminary evaluation of six interim alternatives. The alternatives under consideration are:

1) NO MAJOR CONSTRUCTION. This is the "null alternative" which would involve no widening of the Parkway and no change in the ban on truck traffic. Additional safety features would be provided, however. This is the cheapest of the six alternatives, costing $104 million if new interchanges are built and only $46 million if they are not.

2) RECONSTRUCTION WITH MINIMAL WIDENING, LIMITED TRUCK TRAFFIC. This alternative would widen the parkway to six lanes south of the Capital Beltway and north of the Baltimore Beltway. Between the two beltways the parkway would remain a four-lane facility. Projected cost: $162 million.

3) SIX LANES, LIMITED TRUCK TRAFFIC. Under this alternative two lanes would be added to the Parkway for its entire length. Two bus lanes would be provided between Route 450 and the District of Columbia, resulting in an 8-lane facility for this 3-kilometer segment of the Parkway. Cost: $204 million.

4) RECONSTRUCTION WITH BUS/CARPOOL LANES, LIMITED TRUCK TRAFFIC. This alternative would widen the parkway to six lanes between the two beltways and eight lanes at the northern and southern ends of the parkway. Two lanes of the 8-lane segments would be reserved for busses and carpools. Cost: $259 million.

5) SIX LANES, TRUCK TRAFFIC THROUGHOUT. The main provisions of this alternative are a widening to six lanes and an end to the ban on truck traffic. Cost: $208 million.

6) EIGHT LANES, TRUCK TRAFFIC THROUGHOUT. The widening proposed by this alternative would require the acquisition of 107 hectares (265 acres) of land for an enlarged Parkway right-of-way needed for an 8-lane facility. Cost: $248 million.

This report recommends that only the first three alternatives listed be retained for further study.

After the June 28 public meeting is held the study process will enter its third stage, during which the number of alternatives under consideration will be reduced from six to three. These three remaining alternatives will then be evaluated in more detail. Stage 3 will culminate with formal public hearings scheduled for sometime in February 1977. The hearings will be followed by the preparation of a final environmental impact statement.

Parkway Interchanges

Md. 193: Glendale/Greenbelt Road Under Alternative 1, this interchange would remain as it is now except that speed change lanes are provided under the bridge by shifting the pavement lanes. Further improvements would require both land acquisition and reconstruction at a scale beyond that which is consistent with this alternative.

Blood Donors Needed

The Prince Georges County Red Cross is actively recruiting county residents to donate blood over the Fourth of July weekend. Three factors make this call for blood especially urgent: (1) the expected increase in tourism and holiday traffic accidents, (2) lower attendance of regular blood donors because of summer vacations and (3) the year-round need for a fresh supply of blood, which can only be stored for 21 days.

On Friday, July 2, American Legion Post #217 will sponsor a bloodmobile from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 9218 Baltimore Blvd. in College Park. The Disabled American Veterans Post #7 is sponsoring a bloodmobile at their post home on Rte. 197, just north of the Whitehall Shopping Center in Bowie, on Monday, July 5, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Those who donate blood will have free blood coverage for themselves and eligible family members for one year. Although appointments are not necessary, citizens are asked to call the Blood Program office at 559-8500 by June 25, in order to speed up their blood donation time.

is that the Capital Beltway and Greenbelt Road interchanges are too close together to permit sufficient weaving distances between the twelve ramps entering or exiting the Parkway. Vehicles must slow down considerably resulting in congestion.

To alleviate this problem, the scheme proposed for Alternative 3 replaces the ramp from Md. 193 to the southbound Parkway with two new ramps south of the Capital Beltway interchange. This eliminates the existing conflict between vehicles entering the Parkway from Md. 193 and those exiting the southbound lanes to the Beltway west. (See 12-C below)

I-495: Capital Beltway

This existing cloverleaf interchange, with its short weaving sections and speed change lanes, is inadequate for the high volumes of interchanging traffic it must handle. Under Alternative 1, the interchange would be altered. Under Alternative 2, the interchange would be expanded, generally in its present configuration. The loop ramp in the NE quadrant would be replaced by a directional fly-oil to present in its response to the draft report. Councilmen Richard Pilski, Charles Schwan and Richard Castaldi, as well as White and Weidenfeld, pointed out that youth are listened to on policy decisions when they take the trouble to use the political process. They commended Sucher and his young brother for their efforts.

Finally, Council's statement also reiterated its request that noise and air pollution studies be made in the vicinity of Greenbelt Road and the Beltway.

over ramp to ease and speed the flow of traffic from the northbound Parkway to west on the Beltway, this being the heaviest interchanging movement.

Under Alternative 3, major reconstruction is proposed to improve service for other major movements — southbound Parkway to east on the Beltway and northbound Parkway to west on the Beltway. (See 12-f below). Two directional diagonal ramps passing beneath the Beltway would replace two existing loop ramps, thereby eliminating the weaving movements that presently cause congestion.

Braden Fields Are Separate and Unequal

To the Editor:

After the downpour on last Wednesday night, and during the early morning hours of Thursday, I entertained doubts as to the playing of the 15 and under girls softball game on Thursday evening. My doubts were somewhat subsided after a call was placed to Park and Planning and it was learned that all Girls' and Boys Club games would be played as scheduled. However, I was informed that Braden Field #3, the girls softball field, was in no condition for a softball game. Therefore, a call was placed to the Greenbelt Recreation Department. The reply came that they had been working on the field all day and that it was ready for the game that evening. But which field had they been working on so diligently? Certainly not Braden #3, but field #1 where a men's softball game was played. This fact became apparent upon arrival at the field. There was a mud slop behind home plate in which the unfortunate umpire and catchers were forced to stoop. There was an enormous pool of water along the third base line, avoiding which would be a difficult maneuver. Many bats and balls landed in this water. The field was obviously untouched since the rain; the infield was unlined and appeared as if it had never been raked.

Furthermore, the teams and spectators who attend these games soon become discouraged when they realized that the field and its surroundings are unfit for a decent game of softball. The pitcher's mound was improperly placed, making the need to measure the distance prior to every game mandatory. The bike and pedestrian path is in "fair play" territory. Anyone passing by is in danger of being hit. Persons casually walk through the outfield during the game, and play was temporarily halted on Thursday because a tennis ball rolled onto the field. Those playing tennis paid no attention to where the ball went, nor made the slightest attempt to retrieve it.

Along with my teammates, I feel terribly uneasy when a team comes to play us on our own field. They have no bench to sit on. Needless to say there is nowhere for the spectators to sit, and some have even resorted to bringing lawn chairs in order to view the game. Recently, the opposing team arrived before ours did, causing us to sit on the grass in front of the tennis courts. We then realized how the other teams felt, sitting on the ground, and dodging bike riders and other people in an effort to approach the plate. No other teams in Greenbelt, other than those using this "field," and no other teams in any other city are forced to give their guests such poor hospitality. I am thoroughly annoyed and upset with this situation. The City of Greenbelt should be disgraced to allow their teams to play under such adverse conditions.

A More Beautiful County

To the Editor:

As a citizen of Prince Georges County, I'm always saddened and distressed to watch residents and passers-by toss litter onto our streets and in our neighborhoods. Last month, I was overjoyed to find the opposite — hundreds of concerned Prince Georges citizens willing to spend a rainy Saturday or Sunday picking up what others have thrown. As a public official in Prince Georges County, I want to publicly thank the hundreds of county residents who made our two-day countywide clean-up campaign a runaway success.

I truly hope that the civic involvement and spirit that made our two-day event such a success will continue and spread into other areas of government service. And just as sincerely, I hope this selfless effort by hundreds of our citizens persuades others to dump their trash in an appropriate receptacle, not along our streets, parks and open spaces. But as long as those litterers exist, I remain grateful that so many of our citizens appreciate and are con-

Dogs Need Two Licenses

That's right — Greenbelt dogs need one for the County and one for the City. County licenses expire on June 30. New ones are available at the Upper Marlboro Courthouse, The County Service Building in Hyattsville, the Animal Shelter in Forestville and at all County Police Stations. All dogs must be licensed. Dogs more than four months old must be vaccinated against rabies, and proof of this immunization must accompany the license application.

Greenbelt licenses expire on Aug. 1. New ones can be obtained at the Police Department. Proof of rabies shot must be shown.

New Leaf in 4-H

Mrs. Jean Turkewicz, after leading the 4-H Jolly Green Girls for five years, is leaving to devote more time to piano lessons. Her daughters will continue to remain active, however.

New leaders will be Linda Simonson and Olga Penney, who have a combined experience of 20 years in 4-H. Linda represented Prince Georges County in the state championships twice in record books competition in Foods and Nutrition and has won the key award. Olga started giving demonstrations at age 8, and has won over a hundred awards for her desserts, breads, and public speaking.

A meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Tues., June 29, at 127 Northway Rd. The club is open to any girl interested in do-it-yourself for learning experiences in just about any imaginable area. Along with their experience in the more traditional fields of cooking, sewing, and gardening, the leaders hope to explore the spectrum of 66 available projects.
